

Date: Jan 26, 2010; Section: Business; Page: A8

Churba to address For Women Only Seminar

POCATELLO — Alesha E. Churba of A.E.Churba Design, has agreed to speak at the For Women Only Seminar, a Valentine's luncheon seminar taking place Thursday, Feb. 11 from noon until 2 p.m., at the Juniper Hills Country Club on Bannock Highway in Pocatello.

The seminar is for any woman who wants to enjoy a fun luncheon packed with great information, door prizes and goodie bags. Attendees will hear about how to thrive as the financial market recovers, how to flatter their facial and body structure with the latest hairstyles and color techniques and how to create their favorite place by learning about the fine art of accessorizing for their home.

Seating is limited and RSVP is required. Registration is just $10. Those interested in attending are asked to please call 233-1122 to secure their seats. Those who bring a friend will be entered in a special drawing.

Alesha E. Churba (A.E.Churba) is the only Allied Member ASID and member of the SDP with experience in residential and commercial Interiors in Southeast Idaho. She owns A.E.Churba Design, LLC, and is an instructor at the Idaho State University College of Technology.

Churba